at 0400 on Thursday 06 May 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Showers and limited brighter spells. Seasonally cool.

Today:
Seasonally cool with northerly breezes. Rather cloudy with showers, these perhaps wintry to quite low levels initially, also heavy at times, bringing a risk of hail and thunder, particularly during afternoon and across southern areas. Maximum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Tonight:
Occasional early evening showers between brighter spells. Turning drier from late evening with only isolated outbreaks expected, these largely confined north of A96. Frost for some away from northern coasts. Minimum temperature -1 deg C (30 deg F).

Friday:
Mainly dry across southern Aberdeenshire initially with best of early brightness. Northwest breezes pushing occasional showers over north, which bubble up elsewhere into afternoon, some heavy, potentially thundery. Maximum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Fair start to Saturday, then strengthening winds and periods of rain spreading from southwest, reaching all by days end. Thereafter showers or longer periods of rain, heavy at times.
